Death of Henry W. Longfellow at Boston.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE IN NEW YORK CITY.

Rear Admiral Scott Dies at New York City—The Southern Floods.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

BOSTON, March 24.—Henry W. Longfellow the poet died in this city today of inflammation of the bowels.

Condition of Trade in New York.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Following is the report of the condition of trade in New York for the week ending today. There is a very decided improvement in commercial circulation as compared with a few weeks past. The buoyant tone of the stock market and steady advance in all securities is having its effect upon trade in general. With better crop reports, signs of immense immigration, and favorable trade advices from the country, there are apparently good grounds for the hopeful views expressed as to permanency of the present condition of business. The grain market during the week has been strong, and the volume of business large, with the tendency of prices upwards until Wednesday, when there was a considerable break, and prices declined from 10 to 3 cents per bushel, closing moderately strong at about those rates. Receipts of grain are unusually small. In lard and pork the tendency has been upward, with fluctuations moderate in amount, the market closing at about the same prices as a week ago. In cotton there has been a fair amount of business doing, with market somewhat irregular and fluctuating within range of 15 points, and closing moderately active and firm. Stocks of desirable fleece are not large, yet manufacturers are continuing a very conservative policy and buying only for supply of immediate wants. The condition of the market as a whole is satisfactory. Grain room by steam has been obtained at 2 cents per bushel to Liverpool. Notwithstanding this, requirements are small owing to the high price of grain, which are above buying rates.

Trunk Line Agreement Made.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The trunk line executive committee met to-day at Commissioner Fink's office and ratified the agreements for division of passenger and freight traffic under consideration since harmony between trunk lines was restored. The companies agreed to deposit $325,000 to the credit of Commissioner Fink on account of freight agreement, and $[illegible] on account of passenger agreement as a bond for carrying out the agreement.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Failures in business reported to R. G. Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency the last seven days are 115; eastern states, 15; western, 22; middle, 31; southern, 30; Pacific, 6; New York city, 4. This is a very considerable diminution compared with recent weeks. No failure of consequence occurred in New York.

Voted to Please their Constituents.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says of the passage of the Chinese bill: A leading democrat in the house said to me today, I am opposed to the whole theory of the bill and would like to vote against it, but I must keep solid with my constituents and am afraid for any amendment. This is the feeling doubtless of many others, both democrats and republicans, who voted for the bill virtually under duress.

A Judge Removed.

ST. PAUL, March 23.—The sitting as a court of impeachment, met in open session to-day and formally notified its judgment against Judge Cox, implicated for drunkenness. His sentence is removal from office and disqualification from judicial office for three years.

Ready to Settle.

LAWRENCE, March 23.—The weavers of the Pacific mills who are on the strike are ready for settlement by arbitration. If the lockout continues another week the city government will increase the appropriations for the street, health and pauper departments.

A Dire Possibility.

HELENA, Ark., March 23.—For the Red river section 5000 half rations have been supplied till May 1st, and if water don't fall soon 18,000 people may become destitute.

The Situation on the Sunflower.

The Sunflower river is 49 feet 1 inch deep, from 2 to 4 feet higher than ever known. People on the banks have about two weeks' supply of provisions and have been furnished grain for stock. Some cattle were picked up from rafts and brought here by steamer from Sunflower. It also brought 150 passengers, many entirely destitute. One hundred thousand rations are coming here for distribution at other points. At Newton, people and stock are in a deplorable condition. Capt. Lee recommends 70,000 rations for the destitute in Yazoo, Tallahatchie and Sunflower rivers. The condition on the whole in this section is more favorable.

Union Pacific Losing Money.

KANSAS CITY, March 24.—President Sidney Dillon, Assistant General Manager Kimball, General Superintendent Smith, Chief Engineer Sneed and General Solicitor J. F. Celler of the Union Pacific railway, have returned from Topeka by special train, where they went to consult with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe officials, regarding the California rate question. Mr. Dillon, in an interview, stated that in consequence of the heavy expense under which the Union Pacific railway had been running the last two or three years, it had been found necessary to curtail expenses and a large number of employes are to be discharged, both on the Kansas and Nebraska divisions. Dillon left at 6 o'clock for New York, and is to meet C. P. Huntington and other Southern Pacific magnates at St. Louis.

Illinois Crop Reports.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., March 24.—Information from nearly every section of the state represents crop prospects unusually flattering. Winter wheat looks well and plowing is already well advanced. In some parts of southern Illinois it is feared the fruit crop may fail. Farmers report stock in 10 to 20 per cent. better condition than this time last year.

Suits to be Entered.

ST. PAUL, March 23.—Suits will be entered against all persons using the twine-binding harvester except by leave of C. H. McCormick of Chicago.

Texas News Notes.

LITTLE ROCK, March 23.—Gazette's Texas specials: The Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad is completed 30 miles northwest from Belton toward Lampasas.

The dead body of an unknown white man was found in a street in the residence part of Houston this morning. His head had been split with an axe and neck broken. It is thought he was thrown from the second story of a house near by. Nothing was on the body to identify it.

EXECUTIONS.

ROCK ISLAND, March 24.—W. M. Hellwagen was hanged here to-day for the murder of his daughter. The prisoner protested his innocence on the scaffold, and stated that his own son sought to implicate and has succeeded in fastening the crime upon him. He expressed the hope that the murderer would be found out after his death. He died without a struggle, his neck being broken by the fall.

CLEARWATER, Penn., March 24.—John A. Nevling, convicted of the murder of Samuel Pennington, on Feb. 8, was hanged this morning. After he had mounted the scaffold the doomed man exhibited a knife which he had concealed on his person and it is demonstrated that he had at no time desired to commit suicide.

Two Brothers Hung.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 23.—Frank and Henry Rumberg were hanged at 10:40 A. M. for the murder of Daniel Trentman. Both men ascended the scaffold with firmness. Religious services were very brief and at the conclusion the sheriff adjusted the rope, pulled the cap over their eyes and almost immediately the trap sprung. The criminals died easily, their necks being broken by the fall.

The First Hanging.

PITTSBURG, March 24.—The first execution in six years occurred in the county court yard to-day at noon, Edgar Frank Small being hanged for the murder of Nicholas Jacoby. Small stoutly maintained his entire innocence and did not falter on being led to the gallows. Death was instantaneous.

A Batch of Hangings.

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., March 24.—Jonathan Mair was hanged this morning for participation in the murder of John and Gretchen Kuertzler, Dec. 1. He was courageous and religious on the scaffold, and said he knew nothing of the murder until after it occurred.

ANGELICA, N. Y., March 24.—John C. McCarthy was hanged this morning for the murder of Patrick Markey. He indignantly declared his innocence.

FIRES.

Large Fire at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—Soon after 2 o'clock this morning, a fire of an unknown origin, broke out in W. H. Southworth's wholesale and retail grocery, 114 to 116 Ontario street. Nothing is left of the large block except ruined walls, and adjacent buildings are more or less seriously damaged. Southworth's loss is estimated at $140,000, insurance $[illegible],000. J. Kraus & Co. dealers in carpets and furniture, loss $80,000, insurance $83,000. Other losses $25,000. Incendiarism was the cause.

A Second Fire.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—Another fire early this morning was started while the people were coming from the big fire, and several houses and sheds burned. It is also believed to be the work of an incendiary.

Flouring Mill Burned.

LEAVENWORTH, March 24.—The large flouring mill and elevator of Wattles & Cole burned this afternoon. Cause, dust explosion. A. B. Haven, of the firm, John O'Day and one or two other employes were seriously injured. Twenty thousand bushels of wheat and about $12,000 worth of flour were stored in the elevator. Loss estimated at $60,000.

Fire at McArthur.

COLUMBUS, O., March 24.—A special to the Journal says the entire business portion of McArthur burned to-day from a defective flue. Loss $200,000; no insurance.

THE CHILIAN QUESTION.

Blaine Gives his Opinion as to the Present Status of Affairs in Peru.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Post prints an interview with ex-Secretary Blaine on the latest phase of the Chili-Peruvian question. Blaine said he was not able to give an exhaustive view of the question, but the general result was precisely what he had predicted when Trescott's instructions were revoked.

"What do you mean by the general result?" inquired the reporter.

"I mean," said Blaine, "as I said in January, Peru is to be desolated and destroyed, and the profits of the spoliation will be divided between Chili and English bondholders and speculators who furnished her the money and guns and ironclads that destroyed Peru. It has been advertised in Chilian newspapers, and the treasury department of Chili have issued a decree asking for bids for 1,000,000 tons of guano to be extracted from guano beds of Peru now in possession of Chili. Every cargo must be paid for, so the advertisement runs, in good sterling exchange—English money, mark you, at 90 days sight. One-half goes to Chili and one-half to English bondholders, and Chili binds herself to deposit 50 per cent of the proceeds of guano in the bank of England."

"Did Trescott agree to this?" asked the reporter.

"Trescott was forbidden," said Blaine, "to say one word about it, and not permitted even to interpose a protest."

"How forbidden?"

"How?" said Blaine, "why in explicit terms. See! here is what my successor in the state department said in his letter to Trescott revoking his previous instructions," [reading from a recently printed volume of Chili-Peruvian dispatches]. "The president wishes in no manner to dictate or make any authoritative utterance to either Peru or Chili as to the merits of the controversy existing between those republics, as to what indemnity should be asked or given, as to change of boundaries, or as to the personal government of Peru. The president recognizes Peru and Chili to be independent republics, to which he has no right or inclination to dictate." "Of course," continued Blaine, "When Trescott was thus made powerless, Chili and English bondholders had it all their own way, with none to molest or make them afraid."

"Then it would seem as if Trescott's visit had turned out in the interest of English speculation," suggested the reporter.

"Undeniably," said Blaine, "because Trescott, under Frelinghuysen's instructions, had stood there as a constant witness. The United States could not in any event intervene if the indemnity demanded took the last dollar of Peruvian property and the last acre of Peruvian territory. Trescott was specially instructed not to utter one word in protest or opposition."

"How did Trescott come to sign this recent protocol," asked the reporter.

"I do not understand that he has signed any protocols. The dispatches are a little confused. But, you will observe, the result to Chili and Peru is exactly the same whether our good offices in aid of the protocol should be used at all. It is merely a question as to whether we would actively aid or simply agree not to hinder.

Does not the protocol change at all the previous demands of Chili?

"I think," said Blaine "it enlarges those demands somewhat beyond the indemnity asked before Trescott arrived. Naturally enough when Chili found the United States were sure not to interfere she took all she wanted. She added, I think, the district of Tacna to her previous demands besides large strip of territory north of Tarapaca. As I understand Chili's demands now, added Blaine, they include first, absolute annexation of Tarapaca and large strip of territory immediately north of it. These include all the nitrate beds and the bulk of guano. Second, Chili holds and occupies the districts of Arica and Tacna nominally for ten years, to be then released to Peru on the payment of $20,000,000, while they leave no more power to pay than if it were $20,000,000,000. Arica and Tacna may therefore be considered permanently annexed. Third—Some guano islands are to be seized and held by Chili so long as there is any guano on them. They have therefore taken the very richest districts of Peru, including all nitrates and all her guano, just as they designed in the outset, only they were not then so sure as they are now that the United States would permit it. When these conditions were submitted to Trescott he was graciously told that his good offices would be accepted to urge them upon Peru, but if Peru refused to accede to them then his good offices must be considered at an end.

That can hardly be considered courteous to the United States? queried the reporter.

Why should Chili be courteous to the United States? replied Blaine, for nations, like individuals, depend for their position upon their power and will to assert. When Uriah Heep thanked God he was humble Master Copperfield took him at his word. When our minister of war was instructed to make no authoritative utterances, but merely to be seen and not heard, and act the part of meekness and humility, Chili naturally concluded she could use the power of this great government as she chose, and thus sought to make Trescott aid her designs upon Peru.

But I do not quite understand, said the reporter, how Chili came to advertise a million tons of Peruvian guano for sale before the treaty was concluded, or any arrangement for peace made.

"She did it on the old principle," said Blaine, "He shall take who has power, and he shall keep who can." It is an absolute conquest and she feels so sure of her possession, she simply appropriates property with the strong hand. When the United States refused to ask for justice between the two republics and strong English power was interested in aggrandizement of Chili—Peru's fate was sealed. It is noticeable moreover this million tons of guano is offered for sale in one block. Any bidder is required to put up half a million dollars so that the decree of sale is merely a mode of getting that vast property in the hands of the agent of Chili and English bond holders. It will be carried in English ships, taking larger freightage than the cotton of the United States annually taken beyond sea.

Mr. Blaine, do you think the United States could in any event have prevented this result without war?

"With entire ease," replied Blaine. "There never was such arrant nonsense talked of as possible war with Chili. The difference in the power of the two countries renders the idea of war ridiculous. We are too big to make war with Chili and Chili is too small to make war with the United States. The moral power of the United States judiciously exerted could have saved the autonomy of Peru."

"Could it also have preserved all her territory?" asked the reporter.

I am not entirely sure of that, replied Mr. Blaine. A cession of territory might be necessary in any case, as Peru could not pay a proper war indemnity, and I so instructed Trescott. But this always contemplated that Peru had the alternative right to pay the indemnity, and if the territory had to be sacrificed it should not be in excess of a fair indemnity. One million dollars would have amply reimbursed Chili for her war expenses. She has taken $15,000,000 worth of property from Peru merely by the strong arm, and the United States has stood by, in person, her special envoy instructed either to say nothing, or say it was all right.

A great many believe, said the reporter, active use of our influence would have done no good.

In any event, said Blaine, it would have done no harm, and we should have had the consciousness at least of trying to save a sister republic from destruction. It would have been honorable to make the effort, even if it had failed. As the result now stands, we have acquired the hatred of Peruvians to the latest generations, and at least the contempt of Chili. We have also secured a self-satisfied clique of a band of English speculators, into whose hands the power of the United States has so effectively played. Great Britain, with all her powers, could not have advanced the commercial interests of her own merchants in South America so powerfully, and destroyed the interests of American merchants there so completely, as has been done by the instructions with which Trescott was bound and gagged. The first addition to British interests is the freight money on one million tons of guano, and half the profits of its sale in Europe, which of itself is a larger sum than the war expenditures of Chili.

"But if the United States had intervened would not Great Britain also intervene?"

"Well," said Blaine, "it would be worth while to find out whether, if the United States had intervened to save an American republic, Great Britain would have intervened to destroy it. In my own judgment the foreign policy of Great Britain will not take that direction. It certainly will not so long as British statesmen see the United States can do by omission more for British interests than Great Britain can do by commission. The whole idea, however, of British intervention is a myth. The moral power of the United States in South America would simply have been irresistible. For American interests it was the opportunity of a century and it was blindly sacrificed. The commercial interests of this country in South America will not in fifty years recover what has been lost and what is in its power to acquire. Our interests are not only totally destroyed in Chili and Peru, but our prestige is impaired in all South America, indeed in all Spanish America, both continental and insular. The present generation will not witness the recovery of that which has been lost within the past ninety days."

"When you speak of commercial interests," Mr. Blaine, "do you mean shipping interests."

"I mean that," said Blaine, "but not that alone. I mean the entire interchange of commodities, supplying of manufactured articles and raw materials. Concentration in our commercial cities of a share of that which will now go wholly to London and Liverpool. The trade of the west coast of South America from this time forward will be as much in the hands of Great Britain as the trade of British India. But this opens a large subject and I have neither time nor inclination to pursue it to-day."

MEXICO.

President Gonzales will Assist.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 24.—President Gonzales in an interview to-day with General Palmer, assures him of the executive friendship and appreciation of the Mexican National Railway Co.'s efforts in prosecuting its work. The president authorized Gen. Palmer to state that he would assist the company both officially and personally.

It is too bad to suffer with the agony inflicted by corns, when so simple a remedy as St. Jacobs Oil will stop it. Mr. George W. Hirman, Lonsdale, Pa., gives special praise to the Great German Remedy for its efficacy for this ailment and others too.

WASHINGTON CITY.

How the Chinese Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The long and animated struggle for the attainment of effective legislation to restrict Chinese immigration was brought to a triumphant conclusion to-day, for in view of the overwhelming majority by which the bill was passed by the house of representatives, supplemented by the practically two-third vote by which it passed the senate, there is no longer any doubt about a veto, and even if the president were capable of entertaining such an idea the bill would doubtless easily be passed over his veto. An analysis of the vote on final passage of the measure without any amendment shows a much larger proportion of republican votes for it in the house than in the senate, there being 65 republicans and 102 democratic representatives recorded in the affirmative and 43 republicans and 1 democrats in the negative. The vote on Kasson's amendment to reduce the term of suspension to 10 years was made up as follows: In favor of the amendment, 91 republicans and 5 democrats; against the amendment, 34 republicans and 97 democrats. In these statements the 7 or 8 greenback and independent members who voted are classified according to their customary qualifications on political questions other than financial and no account taken of members who were paired or who dodged voting on either side, it being impossible at present to ascertain facts in regard to them. Butterworth's amendment to reduce the term of suspension to 15 years obtained 81 affirmative votes against 3[illegible] on a division, and all amendments offered were rejected by viva voce votes, which were, judging by the sound, so overwhelming that no one attempted to call for a division on them. Among the amendments thus rejected were several which aimed at restricting operations of the bill to Chinese who come here under labor contracts and to criminals and diseased persons. Many other amendments of which notice had been given were sensibly withdrawn by their authors in order to save the time of voting them down even thus quickly.

The accompanying full report of to-day's debate will show that several excellent speeches were made among them notably Pacheco's, Curtin's and Hazelton's, and it should be added that Gen. Rosecrans would also have spoken were it not for the fact that his physician forbade it. He came to the capitol in a carriage, however, and entered the hall on crutches in time to vote. Page surpassed the expectations of his warmest friends by the admirable and even eloquent character of the short extemporaneous speech with which he closed the debate, and so earnestly appealed to his republican associates for assistance to pass the bill without amendment. The corporations to which he referred as having united to defeat the bill are the Central Pacific and Northern Pacific railroad companies and the Chinese six companies. He also referred to J. P. G. Kennedy of Washington. Immediately upon Speaker Keifer's announcement of final passage of the bill, all Pacific coast members received general congratulations upon their victory, and Page especially, by reason of his having borne the laboring oar as the member in charge of the measure, and was the recipient of numerous congratulations for his excellent management of the bill throughout the whole period of its consideration. He was also informed, and doubtless truthfully, by at least a dozen of his republican colleagues, that they had at last voted for the bill in deference solely to his earnest personal representations, although they had intended to vote against it unless it were materially amended. It need hardly be added that all the other Pacific coast members have labored with zeal and effectiveness, and that all are entitled to high credit for their combined efforts, by which, through weeks and months of untiring and harmonious activity, the great triumph of the day was achieved finally.

No Alarm Need be Felt.

The Chinese bill was to-night delivered to President Arthur and now only awaits his signature to become a law. It will doubtless be sent to the secretary of state to-morrow in accordance with the usual custom of submitting every bill received by the president to the head of the appropriate executive department for examination, prior to its final approval, and in the ordinary course of business the Chinese bill will not be returned to the white house before Monday. Whether its return will be hastened or not, however, there is little prospect for any announcement of the president's action upon it at so early a date as to-morrow, and a delay of several days need not occasion any alarm or uneasiness. Senators Jones of Nevada, and Miller and Representative Page, all of whom have talked with the president, both before and since the bill's final passage, continue to express entire confidence, that notwithstanding the heavy pressure brought to bear upon him in favor of a veto, he will certainly sign it.

Committee Matters.

House committee on judiciary, ordered a favorable report on Culberson's substitute for pending bills providing for an additional representative from Nebraska. If passed the bill will seat Majors, who now holds a certificate of election from the governor. The bill regulating district courts of Ohio was also ordered favorably reported; likewise representative Wilson's bill, which provides that an election be held in a congressional district of West Virginia the second Tuesday of October next for representatives of the 48th congress. Adverse report was ordered upon the bill to regulate commerce between states, pertaining to commercial travelers and declared that interference with commercial travelers selling goods by samples in different states to be a misdemeanor on the ground that the United States supreme court has pronounced laws imposing a tax upon such travelers to be unconstitutional.

Morey, of Ohio, in behalf of the house private lands and claims committee, reported favorably on the bill introduced by Representative Rosecrans for readjudication of boundaries of Ballona and visitation ranchos in San Mateo. The house claims committee to-day reported favorably on George's bill providing for the payment of Oregon claims to the amount of $70,000 on account of the Modoc Indian war; also favorably on Berry's bill for payment of $4400 to the state and citizens of California on the same account. The two bills are consolidated by the committee, and the amendments allowed are those found due by general Hardy's report to the secretary of war.

Washington Notes.

It is reported to-day that Gen. Grant during his visit here is using his influence to effect the retirement of Major General McDowell, and the promotion of Brigadier General Pope.

Representative Rosecrans is again strictly confined to his room by the condition of his wounded foot, which threatens to develop into an attack of erysipelas.

The Evening Star credits Rosecrans with having said that no matter whether the president approves or disapproves of the Chinese bill, California will remain democratic. If he approves it, he will approve a democratic measure, and if he disapproves it the republicans can never hope to carry the Pacific slope.

Refuse to Confirm.

The senate in executive session yesterday refused to confirm Cooper as revenue collector of North Carolina, on account of the opposition of Don Cameron and Jones of Nevada. Mott, the present collector, and Cooper are said to be trying to Mahoneize the state. Keogh, ex-secretary of the republican committee, violently opposed the coalition as dangerous to republicanism in North Carolina. Cooper was rejected by two majority. It would seem, therefore, that Jones and Cameron oppose Mahone's movement.

Robinson Becomes Rampant.

Robinson, of New York, called attention to the fact that the resolution relative to the imprisonment of American citizens in Great Britain has not yet been acted upon by the committee, and said: If something is not done, and our minister has not demanded his passport, I shall move impeachment. Wilson, a member of the committee, stated the resolution had not yet been reported back because the committee desired to obtain all necessary information. There were no laches on the part of the committee. Robinson replied that would make his question of impeachment unnecessary. House then proceeded to the consideration of private business.

The Inter-Oceanic Canal.

Eads' ship railway bill had another hearing to-day. Capt. Merry of San Francisco opposed the scheme and Colonel Ingersoll asked for the Panama canal protectorate by this government. He did not ask a dollar of aid, only non-interference. Work was progressing finely and would probably be finished before congress decides what to do in the premises. If a respectable Chinese policy was adopted by this government there would be a traffic with China far greater than now passes through Suez canal.

Recommended for Passage.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The house committee on ways and means has been directed to report to the house with favorable recommendation and for consideration at the earliest practical day the bill to amend the laws relating to internal revenue, reported to the house on Friday last and published, at the time.

A Correct Report.

Representative Harris of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee on naval affairs, and other members, say the statement to-day that the committee decided at its meeting to-day to recommend appropriations of $1,800,000 for completion of monitors, is correct, but that the committee has not yet disposed of the question.

Heavy Appropriations.

The senate committee on improvement of the Mississippi and tributaries agreed upon a bill appropriating five million dollars for the improvement of the Mississippi and also one million for the Missouri river.

Kellogg reported a bill appropriating five millions for the improvement of the Mississippi and one million for the Missouri river.

Whittaker to be Discharged.

The secretary of war has issued a special order discharging Cadet Whittaker from the military academy on the recommendation of the academy board because of deficiency in studies.

Alex. Stephens will Retire.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Alex. Stephens appeared in the house in his wheeled chair to-day for the first time in a week or two. He says the reports that he has decided to retire from public life at the expiration of his present congressional term are true.

General McDowell to Retire.

General McDowell will very shortly be retired. This arrangement has been made since the appearance of Grant in the city.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 24.

A joint resolution for printing [illegible] was passed.

The tariff commission bill being resumed, Miller of N. Y. gave some reasons for his belief in protection. He said he feared unless some southern senators amended their views on this issue they would be left at home.

Morgan desired to know if the gentleman meant to ask whether he expects that any of the members who will be returned from the south will be in favor of the tariff on wood pulp.

Miller said he preferred, as a new member, and one unaccustomed to public speaking, to be permitted to make his argument on the question without interruption, but as the senator has sought to draw him into a debate on a personal question, and fling at him the thing which has been thrown at him by all the newspapers of this country, I say to him that I am ready to meet him, and if he thinks to cover me, or to drive me from my position by any such accusation as that, he mistakes his man. I have said nothing about wood pulp, but I repeat to the gentleman that I believe the people of the south, of Georgia and Alabama, who are deeply interested in the manufacture of cotton and iron, will see to it that they are represented here by men who believe in the development of the great resources of the beautiful south.

Morgan—If the senator will indulge me—

Miller declining, appealed to the chair for vindication of his rights to the floor. The chair overruled the attempted interruption, and Miller resumed. He said he would answer any questions in regard to wood pulp, or any other manufacturing industry of which he had any knowledge, upon the conclusion of his argument, and finally concluded by inviting Morgan to reiterate his query about wood pulp.

Morgan replied that he had now no query to make; that when the senator intimated that southern members did not represent their people, and would be supplanted at the November elections by protection advocates—in other words, that the democratic party of the south would be overthrown—he put to him a question whether, in that senator's opinion, new members would come instructed to vote on that question, and would put a tariff on that article. But the senator construed his inquiry as a personal allusion. If the senator was so much identified with the tariff on wood pulp that no one could discuss it without making an allusion personal to himself, then the inquiry ought not to have been made.

Mr. Miller said he confessed his inability to understand the matter as partaking of any other than a personal nature, but took no offense at it. The business of paper and wood pulp manufacture, in which he had been engaged, he believed to be quite as honorable as any which engaged the attention of gentlemen interested in breaking down our manufactures and thereby reducing American laborers' wages. He added that by operation of patents and of the tariff business was oppressively burdened, and that he wanted to say, through the press of the country which had denounced him for being engaged in that business, that the time would come when they would realize that the efforts put forth by himself and his associates had done more than all others to solve the question of cheaper paper and cheap books.

Sherman spoke of the efforts made by the treasury department to secure legislation at different times within a period of a few years so as to enforce the revenue laws with regard to the sugar duties and detailed like efforts by that department to counteract and prevent frauds in artificial coloring of sugar as changes them from higher to lower grades in order to evade higher duties. Although it has been shown a failure to pass regulation duties involves a loss to the government of three millions a year, all efforts at legislation had proved ineffectual. Pending general adjustment of the tariff he read a recent decision of the supreme court to show under existing law coloring in process of manufacture was not fraud, but to become such it must take place subsequent to manufacture. These and like tariff defects in regard to hoop iron, steel blooms, and other articles in iron and steel manufacture has grown out of the confusion in ad valorem and specific duties caused by revolution in manufacturing within the last 20 years since the laws were passed. In view of the press of business he thought a short bill including these items was all that could be hoped for the present session, and that a general revision should be left to a commission of civilians on the Morrill plan to report at the next session.

General debate on the bill will be closed Tuesday, after which amendments may be offered under the ten minute rule.

Williams introduced a bill to incorporate the Cherokee Central Railroad & Telegraph Company. The bill authorizes construction of the road and a telegraph line from Fort Smith, Ark., to Fort Gibson, Cherokee nation, and thence to a point near where Verdigris river crosses the line between Kansas and Indian territory; referred.

The bill creating two new land districts in Nebraska passed.

After executive session the senate adjourned.

Oregon Seaports.

New York Banker and Broker, March 10.

Our exchanges from Oregon bring us to-day tidings of another serious disaster on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river. A dispatch from Astoria to the Portland OREGONIAN of Feb. 22d gives the particulars of the foundering on the 20th ultimo of the British bark Cerates of 776 tons, with a full cargo of wheat, and drawing 19 and a half feet, notwithstanding she was in charge of an experienced pilot and had the aid of powerful tugs. This is the sixth important wreck there within a few months, and a continuance of those calamities will ruin the commerce of the river, as allied to the perils of the bar at the mouth of the Columbia, the half dozen other bars in that river and the Willamette are not only vexatious, but increasingly dangerous. For some time past steamers drawing over 16 feet have had to transfer cargo and passengers to lighten in order to enable them to proceed to Portland.

So powerful and capricious are the currents of these rivers, and so vast the constant deposits of silt and debris, that the problem of devising any effectual plan of improving or maintaining the channels is the despair of the government engineers, and they seem likely to grow more and more the dread of the mariner and the underwriter.

In pleasing contrast with the above an item by the same mail reports the successful results of the government work at Yaquina bay, the steamship Yaquina on her second trip, Feb. 13th, finding 20 feet of water on the bar at high tide.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

PORTLAND, March 24.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

During my visit to Washington and since my return some newspapers have endeavored to show that I would probably be a candidate before the next republican convention for the nomination for governor. I have to say in reply that I am not nor will I be a candidate, for the office of governor nor for any other office. I have plenty of business of my own to attend to, and the holding of an office is not necessary to my business or peace of mind.

D. P. THOMPSON.

It is a lamentable fact, when we say that a great many that have use for Horse Medicines, do not know what they want, and are ready to take anything that is offered, for the reason that they rely upon the opinion of others who have no more idea of the diseases and requirements of the horse than a child. And there are a great many so-called Condition Powders peddled through the country, by those who do not care for the result, but say that the farmers will buy anything. We say that there is not another Condition Powder sold in this country, where it can be traced to so high authority as Sloan's.—Ex.

Democrats Organizing.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—A sub-committee of ten, appointed several weeks ago to prepare a system for reorganization of the democrats of San Francisco have issued a lengthy circular report, embodying a detailed and elaborate plan for accomplishing their purpose. Among other suggestions it is proposed to organize 37 clubs in the city, according to the number of voters. Another is to provide for 27 clubs. On the question of the number of clubs the committee are divided. As yet neither plan has been ratified. The purpose of the committee is to effect a thorough and radical reorganization of the democratic party in the city.

Postponed One Month.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The Sunday law cases were called in the police court this morning and continued for one month.

Anniversary Celebration.

To-day the fourteenth anniversary of the granting of the state charter to the university of California was celebrated at Berkeley by appropriate and interesting exercises. Addresses were delivered by C. E. Hayes, Prof. John LeConte, Wm. H. Beatty and Miss May L. Shepherd. The oration of the day was delivered by Wm. D. Armes. Music was interspersed with the literary exercises.

Supreme Court Notes.

In the supreme court in banc to-day in the case of the Spring Valley Waterworks vs. the Board of Supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco, the court ordered that an alternative writ of mandate be issued as prayed for, returnable before the court March 29th.

The opium seizure case has been set for Monday next for argument.

Mortuary Report.

Seventeen deaths were reported at the health office to-day making a total of 113 deaths for the week. One case of small pox of virulent type is reported to-day. The number of cases of smallpox reported at the health office since July 1st is 170, and the number of deaths from the same 22.

A Bigamist's Trial.

STOCKTON, March 23.—The case of The People vs. E. J. Cripe is exciting great interest. Defendant is charged with bigamy in marrying Madgie Moore while he had a lawful wife living in the person of Amelia J. Atwood. Both marriages were solemnized in San Francisco, and certified copies of both marriage licenses were produced by the prosecution from the county recorder of San Francisco. Both ladies appeared in court to-day. It is claimed for the defense that Cripe believed his first marriage to be void on account of information to the effect that Mrs. Atwood had a husband living at the time. A copy of a decree of divorce from Mrs. Atwood's former husband has, however, been procured by prosecution, dated more than a year before the alleged marriage to defendant.

ARIZONA.

Another Victim to the Earp Feud.

TOMBSTONE, March 23.—This afternoon Theodore D. Judah came in from Pete Spence's wood camp in South pass of Dragoon mountains, and gave an Epitaph reporter the following information: Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Wyatt and Warren Earp, Doc Holladay, McMasters, Texas Jack and Johnson, came into camp and inquired for Pete Spence and Indian Charley, also as to the number of men there and their whereabouts. Judah informed them that Spence was in Tombstone, and a Mexican named Florentino was looking for some stock which had strayed away. Judah indicated the direction taken by the Mexican, and the party immediately left as directed, passing over the hill which hid them from view. In a few minutes ten or twelve shots were heard, and Florentino not returning this morning, Judah proceeded in search of him and found his body not far from camp riddled with bullets. Judah immediately came to town with the news.

Police Force to be Increased.

WINNIPEG, March 24.—Official information has been received at the Indian department here that the dominion government has decided to increase the northwest mounted police to 500. It is said the present force is overtaxed, and officers have expressed themselves to the government on the necessity of a larger force.

In the effort to blacken the reputation of President Garfield, the stalwarts and the democratic press have been drawn very closely together. Guiteau's work is being ably seconded by the combination.—Chicago Tribune.

vested in these works than the Ohio Falls Car Company, but give employment to a less number of men. The next largest works are located at Terre Haute; fourth, at Cambridge City; fifth, at Indianapolis; sixth, at Lafayette; seventh, at Elkhart; eighth, at Laporte. It may be said that Pennsylvania builds more cars than does Indiana, but to support this statement it would be necessary to include car works which are owned largely and operated chiefly by the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad companies, but not independent enterprises like the car establishments of Indiana.—Indianapolis Journal.

that it takes an hour and a half to make a pair, and they sell for 35 cents. It is all done by hand labor, with saw-knives, bits and long-handled gouges.

The city of Oshkosh, located on Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin, where lumber is handy, is bragging pretty vigorously about its manufactures. It makes more sash, doors and blinds than any other town in the country, and claims to produce one-tenth of the whole, has the biggest carriage factory in the northwest, and thinks its total manufactures last year approximated $15,000,000.

decided to regard them in any other light. The act of congress of August 14, 1848, for the government of the Oregon territory, employs language even stronger and more explicit than that of the act for the government of the territory south of the Ohio. It declared, "that the inhabitants of said territory shall be entitled to enjoy all and singular the rights, privileges and advantages granted and secured to the people of the territory of the United States north west of the river Ohio, by the articles of compact contained in the ordinance for the government of said territory on the 13th day of July,

SATURDAY MORNING MARCH 25, 1882

OREGON SEAPORTS.

The source of the article under this head, which we reprint from a financial journal of New York, will be instantly detected by any one who gives it attentive reading. It might as well have been signed "Hogg & Nash, solicitors for the Oregon Pacific Railroad and Seaport Scheme. Thirty per cent. of the Capital Stock given as a Bonus for Bond Subscriptions, and Twenty per cent. Dividends guaranteed."

A desperate effort to raise money for this scheme of quackery is being made. Part of it is based on just such false representations of the Columbia river as the above, and the rest on miscellaneous devices to deceive and mislead. The managers of this scheme constantly represent that upon completion of less than one hundred miles of railroad, they will be able to control the whole carrying business of Oregon, build a great city on Yaquina bay, in comparison with which Portland will at once dwindle to the proportions of a petty village, and completely revolutionize the business and commerce of the northwest. These extravagant promises are inspired by an eagerness to make money out of manipulation of the scheme. Of course it is not for a moment supposed that there is a chance of their fulfillment.

Did not the scheme carry with it injurious misrepresentations like those presented in the article quoted we should pay little attention to it, leaving those from whom the money is solicited to be on their guard against imposition. But articles like this, teeming with falsehoods about the Columbia river and its commerce, are put forth as one of the means of floating the bonds of an undertaking in which nobody would venture money who happened to be acquainted with the whole situation. Let us examine this article a little. Published here it would do no harm, as the false statements would be as apparent as the source from which they emanate. Published in New York it may do much injury to the interests of the entire northwest.

First, then, the Corsica is not the sixth vessel lost at the mouth of the Columbia river "within a few months." This number is obtained by charging to the Columbia bar all the vessels lost up and down the coast, including the two at Shoalwater Bay and the one at Tillamook Head. The Corsica is the only vessel attended by a tug which has been lost recently at the Columbia bar. This article says she "had the aid of powerful tugs." In fact she had one little tug, whose power is hardly equal to towing a wood barge on the river. Only a strong tug and good management were needed to carry the Corsica safely out. Vessels of deeper draught passed out immediately ahead of her, and other like vessels immediately behind her. Half the dangers and all the long detentions at the bar are due to the fact that the tugs employed there have not weight and power for towing deep sea vessels. With a tug of strong power the Corsica would either have gone safely out, or would have been brought back to await a more favorable hour. These little tugs cannot handle heavy and deep vessels on the bar, and one of the greatest needs of our commerce is their supersedure by better ones. This will soon be done through the enterprise of Portland. No ship has been wrecked at the bar which would not have passed over with safety under proper management and good tug service. The Fern Glen, lost there, drifted in with the tide in the night, not knowing she was in the mouth of the river. She was a small vessel of light draught, and was lost by sheer mismanagement. Is there any sense in citing accidents like this to prove that the Columbia river bar is exceptionally dangerous? The Edith Lorne was lost in going out without a tug. The wind failed her, and she drifted on the sands. It is not claimed or supposed that prudent seamanship or adequate tug service can be dispensed with safely on the bar. Yet there has been no accident at the bar which prudent seamanship and good tug service would not have averted.

Nor is it true that steamers drawing over 16 feet "have to lighter in order to reach Portland." Steamers carrying over 2000 tons of freight and drawing from 17 to 19 feet arrive and depart every four days, and rarely meet with detention. In only one instance has any one of these large steamers been detained at all in entering the river, and in that instance less than a single day. Calculation is made with certainty on the time of their arrival here from San Francisco, which is proof enough that the bar does not obstruct or detain. Nor is "the problem of improving and maintaining the river channels the despair of the government engineers." The engineers know precisely how to do it, and have no doubt of their ability to do it. But they have never yet been provided with resources to do anything of importance. An occasional trifling appropriation does not suffice to keep a single small dredge in operation.

What is the "pleasing contrast" of which we hear at Yaquina bay? The absurdity, where the facts are known, is ludicrous beyond expression. At the entrance of Yaquina bay repeated surveys by government engineers show a depth of 8 feet 6 inches at low tide. The deepest at high tide may be 18 feet. "The steamship Yaquina," of which mention is made in this article, found scant 14 feet at half-tide. She lay off the bar for six days, couldn't get in, and at last returned to Astoria, over the "terrible Columbia bar," for safety. She was loaded with material for the Hogg-Nash railroad, and though she is a small vessel, with a draft of less than 9 feet, she failed to enter this harbor, which presents the "pleasing contrast" to the Columbia, and was obliged to wait for a more propitious season—though she was able to pass in and out over the Columbia bar without risk or detention. She found less than 13 feet on Yaquina bar at high tide, instead of 20, as alleged, while the depth on Columbia bar is more than 20 feet at lowest water and above 30 at high tides.

We are not publishing these statements to supply information here. All the facts are too well known to require it. But it is necessary to meet abroad the erroneous and false statements published abroad for the purpose of bolstering up schemes of speculation through persistent and unscrupulous misrepresentation of the commercial interests of the state. The Columbia river has always been, now is and always will be the main channel of Oregon's commerce, as well as of that of a large part of Washington territory. This commerce is in full tide of active movement. There is yearly increase of production and shipping; sailing vessels of 18 to 20 feet draught enter and depart in large numbers, and proper attention to improvement of the river and bar will easily add 5 feet more. The tug service soon to be provided at the bar will meet that necessary demand. Steamships equal to any in the world are engaged in the Columbia river trade, and not one of them has met with any accident at the bar. But suppose an accident like that which has befallen the Columbia at the Golden Gate had overtaken her at the entrance of the Columbia river, what would be said about it?

To not a few individuals and localities it is a standing grievance that vessels enter the Columbia river at all. The existence of Portland is another and perhaps even greater grievance. Perhaps the Columbia river has no right to carry shipping; perhaps Portland has no right to persist in growing as it does; but still we do not see just what anybody is going to do about it. If Portland were not a necessity to the country it would scarcely exist; were it not the central point through which the business of the country is done it certainly would not continue to grow as it does in wealth and importance. They who publish exaggerated and false statements about the dangers and difficulties to commerce here do not injure Portland more than they injure the whole northwest. It may just as well be accepted as a fact now as at any future time that Portland will maintain her position; that the railroads now coming here will make her position a more commanding one than ever before, and that the Columbia river will steadily become a more and more important factor in the commerce of the northwest. Is it asked why, if all this is true, do we take the pains to set forth what we have presented here? We do so in the interest of the country at large. Every misrepresentation of the situation, like that republished in another column from the New York journal, is a blow at the entire country even more than at Portland, as the greater includes the less. To use newspapers published at shipping centers to spread false reports about the Columbia river, pretending that such a place as Yaquina bay offers better advantages to commerce, and that Yaquina bay is destined to supersede the Columbia river in the commerce of the northwest, is well enough to be laughed at here; but it may do serious mischief to the commerce of the country, while not helping in the smallest degree the ridiculous scheme attempted to be furthered by it.

EDMUNDS ON THE GUITEAU TRIAL.

In an article in the March number of the North American Review, Senator Edmunds considers the Guiteau trial retorting upon those English critics who assailed America on the ground of want of proper dignity and decorum in the proceedings. He mentions several instances in the history of English jurisprudence in which the proprieties and decencies have been shockingly mangled in court. In one case in particular, the great state trial of the earls of Essex and Southampton before the English lords, barons and judges, in which Sir Edward Coke and Francis Bacon were counsel for the prosecution, the prisoners and the lords kept up a constant interchange of scurrilous epithets, and Essex accused Coke of being a perjured liar and denounced Bacon as a time-server and hypocrite. The French ambassador said that, while the counsel were pleading, "my lords guzzled as if they had not eaten for a fortnight, smoking also plenty of tobacco. Then they went into a room to give their voices—and there, stupid with eating, and drunk with smoking, they condemned the two earls." Other instances are cited from English trials, which show on the whole that English courts have not always been noted for enforcing good behavior. But Mr. Edmunds does say that Judge Cox had power to preserve order among visitors to his court room, and deserves censure for not doing so. The prisoner, however, could not be silenced; his unquestionable right to speak in his own defence gave him opportunity for his outbursts. Hence he could not be gagged, and the trial could not proceed if he were removed from the court. Two things, Mr. Edmunds says, are to be considered. "On one side are the great and fundamental securities of life and liberty for all men and all cases. On the other the convenience and importance of decency, order and dignity in the administration of justice. In such cases as we have in view, one or the other of them must, to a greater or less degree, give way. Which, on the whole, should it be? It seems to us that the path of safety lies in holding fast to the first." And Senator Edmunds says that long experience has shown that instances of evil or constant speaking by a prisoner on trial, of a really serious and obstructing character, are very rare, and they have never defeated, though they have sometimes obstructed, the course of justice.

LONGFELLOW.

The most eminent poet of America is dead. His literary career, covering a period of fifty years has been among the most honored and successful in our history. Longfellow's poetry has always had more readers than that of any other American. He has attempted almost every style of versification, and has failed in none. His shorter and longer poems are alike remarkable for literary finish and wealth of poetical expression. It cannot indeed be claimed that he is a poet of the first order, but certainly among his contemporaries on either side of the Atlantic he has had no superior. A highly cultivated taste, correct thinking and feeling and deep sympathy with the better side of human nature, characterize his literary work. A predominating quality of his poetry is its seriousness. Its pathos often reaches the pitch of melancholy expression; and yet the tone is a healthy and wholesome one. Longfellow was born in Portland, Maine, in February, 1807. He had therefore passed the age of seventy-five years. The sale of his works has exceeded for many years those of any other American writer.

Hon. D. P. Thompson, in a card, published this morning, makes it known that he is not to be a candidate for the governorship nor any other office. Those who don't like Mr. Thompson will rejoice; those who think he would be a very proper man for governor will regret it, but will be disposed nevertheless to think him sensible in declining to be a candidate for a post on which is very full of responsibilities, but not overflowing either with honors or emoluments. That man is no true friend who urges his neighbor to allow himself to be made governor—unless indeed the latter be a man who finds office "necessary to his business or peace of mind."

Mr. Blaine pronounces the supposition that there ever was danger of war with Chili, growing out of the position taken by the United States on the Peruvian question, absurd. This is a grain of sense in the vast flood of nonsense talked on the subject.

A BORN LIAR.—Alice Brown, an eight-year-old mulatto, was brought to the police station last night by two men, who taken her from a hall where a dance was in progress and where she had spent the entire evening. It was not her first visit there, having been brought in several times by kind-hearted people who had picked her up on the street. She is rather an interesting looking child, talks intelligently, and, as Captain Belcher says, "will take a stranger in" very fast. For the past six months she has been in the habit of running away from her home, which is in the third story of the Strowbridge block, and after meeting a stranger, telling him or her a most heart-rending story of how she is mistreated by her mother, that she is hungry and would like to live with them. She said to an OREGONIAN reporter last night that, providing he would not tell any one, she would tell him her history, and then began the same extraordinary yarn about being tied to a bed-post and beaten senseless, kicked down stairs, choked, with many other embellishments, and ended by saying she could not return home because her mother said if she came back she would scald her to death. There is, of course, no truth whatever in her story, and it seems to just told out of pure meanness. Her mother says she has whipped the child several times in hopes of breaking her of this habit of lying. The girl is certainly an adept in this line, and with her childish face and bright-looking eyes can dupe almost anyone.

"MATHEMATICS OF LIFE."—The second lecture of the course now being given at the Congregational church, will be delivered Monday evening next by Prof. J. H. Skidmore on the above subject. Those who have heard the professor say he is one of the most instructive and entertaining speakers in the state, having a rare faculty of seasoning the driest and most ethical subjects with chaste wit and humor that charm his audience. Those holding tickets to the course will have to be patient in regard to the last lecture, as it may have to be again postponed, as Lieutenant Schwatka has not yet returned from the east. All however should go and hear Prof. Skidmore on Monday evening.

KA-TA-TA'S EXECUTION.—Ka-tata, the Alaska murderer, will be executed Tuesday at 11 o'clock A. M., in the woodshed adjoining the courthouse. The place has been cleared of all obstructions, and the scaffold will be erected Monday. The building will accommodate only a few persons, on account of which but a limited number of spectators' tickets have been issued. The Indian still wears the same air of stoicism, and is utterly indifferent to what goes on around him. He seems fearful, however, that his execution will be postponed, and insists that it take place before his friends leave for Alaska, so that they may see him hung, and take the news to his friends.

GLASS-MAKING SAND.—Captain John Harlow yesterday brought several varieties of sand, which he thinks contain sufficient silica to produce a good quality of glass. He has put them on exhibition in Hodge, Davis & Co.'s store, and wants some one acquainted with glass manufacturing to examine the sands, and if they are found to be of any account he will ship them to some eastern manufactory to have them tested. There are six different varieties, ranging from almost a powdered substance to a very coarse brittle material, and from a dark yellow color to a dark blue. He brought the sand from his farm on Sandy river, where he says there is an inexhaustible supply.

THE OPEN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—Regular meeting as usual this evening at Y. M. C. A. hall. There will be an address by the Rev. John Reid of Port Townsend; piano solo by Miss Etta Ringlaub; a recitation by Miss Ella Fields; singing of solos by Miss Anna Higgs. Admission 10 cents. This will be the last evening that the Open Temperance society will meet in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Thereafter the regular meetings will be held at its new hall on Morrison street, between Third and Fourth. This hall will be opened with fitting ceremony on the first Saturday in April.

PRIZES AWARDED.—Yesterday morning the examining committee, consisting of Mrs. Henderson, Dr. P. H. Keene and Rev. T. L. Eliot, appointed to examine and decide upon the two best essays upon "Kindness to Animals," by the members of the high school, rendered their decision. The first prize, a steel engraving, "Pharaoh's Horses," was awarded to Sadie F. Vetter; the second, $10, to George Case. Beside those, two other productions received honorable mention. The prize essays will be read before the Oregon Humane Society at their annual meeting, Tuesday, the 28th inst.

THE COLUMBIA'S ACCIDENT.—Goodall, Perkins & Co. telegraphed the O. R. & N. Co. yesterday as follows: "The Columbia is entirely free from water this morning and will go on the dry dock to-morrow. Think the damage is slight." Her cargo consisted of 540 tons potatoes, 119 tons oats, 160 tons general merchandise, 18 tons dried fruit, 22 tons flour, 10 tons barley, 5½ tons green apples, and a lot of iron and barrel stock. There will be a general average of cargo.

MYSTERIES OF THE SEX.—Hon. Sturges H. Greene, delivers a lecture on this subject at Masonic Hall next Sunday evening. It is said the lecture will be a fine literary production; also amusing and novel. Miss Nellie Holbrook, the celebrated elocutionist and platform orator, will give one or more recitations. The choir will dispense excellent music, and Miss Anna Higgs, by special request, will sing a few favorite songs. Ten cents admission to defray expenses.

"STEEL-HEADS" NOT CONSIDERED SALMON.—In the state circuit court for Clackamas county yesterday the case of the state against Jonathan Humphrey charged with catching salmon, was dismissed by agreement. Under the fishing statute it is unlawful to catch salmon in March. Humphrey proved that he caught only the variety known as "Steel-heads," and Judge Stott held that these were not salmon under the law.

EXTRAORDINARY EGG THIEF.—Mr. James Rankin, of East Portland, was visited yesterday morning early by a fellow who goes by the name of "Bricktop." His call was for Easter eggs—and he got 'em. He took up three setting hens and carried the eggs away, escaping on his side with his booty though pursued to the river bank by Mr. Rankin and his [illegible].

PETITION FOR A REVIEW.—A petition for a review of the case of the Brownsville woolen mills against the city of Portland was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday. The defendants bring action against the city to recover the tax levied upon merchandise which they stored in this city, which they claim was already taxed in Linn county at their mill. The case was first heard in the county court.

SERIOUS FALL.—Mrs. Skinner, mother of Mrs. William Wadhams, yesterday fell from the top to the bottom of the stairway in Mr. Wadhams' residence, corner West Park and Market streets, and fractured her right arm in two places. Dr. Strong reduced the fractures soon afterward. She is resting easily, but on account of her age it will be some time before the arm is completely healed.

THE ALASKA LIQUOR DEALER.—W. J. Stevens, the merchant of Fort Wrangel who was brought down by the revenue cutter Wolcott, was brought before U. S. Commissioner Lamson yesterday and committed for trial on two charges—smuggling whisky into an Indian territory and smuggling whisky down the Stickeen river. He was held to answer in the sum of $500 in each case.

RECEIVED.—In the Vindicator this afternoon will appear a magnificent first-page engraving of the new depot buildings to be erected by the O. R. & N. Co. The picture is from a drawing furnished by Mr. Thielsen and may be relied upon as being accurate. One thousand extra copies will be issued. They will be for sale at all the principal news stands.

AN INDECENT BRUTE.—A fellow who gave his name as James Moody, residing on Sixth street, was arrested yesterday at the foot of L street in East Portland, for indecent exposure of his person to ladies. Having a family he was allowed to go until to-day on his own recognizance when his case will be investigated.

SUIT TO RECOVER WAGES.—A petition for appeal of the case of D. Fellows against F. D. Forbes, which was tried some time since in the Morrison precinct court, was filed in the clerk's office yesterday. It is a civil action to recover $109, claimed by Fellows as wages due him for work done on a dry dock in British Columbia.

ALICE ALLEN ARRESTED.—Alice Allen, a resident of the Red Light saloon, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault and battery. Kitty Loper is said to have been the victim of Allen's maulers and made the charge against her. Allen was released on her own recognizance.

MATINEE.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Sheridan and company will give a performance at New Market theater, for which an attractive programme has been prepared. To night they will give their last performance.

PROMOTIONS.—Capt. Richard Hoyt of the Emma Hayward has been assigned to duty as river pilot of the O. R. & N. Co.'s ocean steamers. Capt. Wood Sprague succeeds Capt. Hoyt on the Hayward.

FOR SOUTHERN OREGON PORTS.—The new steamship Yaquina, Capt. Denney, will leave Pacific dock Sunday, April 2d, for Tillamook, Yaquina and Coos bays.

MISS NELLIE HOLBROOK, who gives a recitation at Masonic Hall next Sunday evening, canvassed New York, Connecticut and other states, during the last presidential election. Her admirers are very enthusiastic and claim that she is "queen of the American platform." That she received a wonderful ovation in New York city and carried Connecticut. Be that as it may, the "daughter of the California Invincibles," will speak for herself at Masonic Hall, Sunday evening.

George, dear, be sure and bring home one of Woods The Hatter's spring style of hats, so you will look respectable at church to-morrow.

WELCH HEARD FROM.

He is Working at his old Trade in Honolulu.

Mr. J. M. Baltimore, assistant general agent of the associated press, telegraphed THE OREGONIAN last night from San Francisco as follows:

A man named Foster, who conducts a large harness making and saddlery business in Honolulu, Sandwich islands, arrived a few days ago on the steamer Zealandia. Foster says that a man who gave his name as Jas. Welch came to his establishment a few days before he (Foster) sailed for San Francisco, and asked for work. Welch did it as he came from Portland, Oregon, where he had formerly carried on business. Foster mentioned the circumstance here incidentally, and I heard of it. Have made careful search for Foster, but thus far have not been able to see him personally. Will if possible interview him and get a personal description of Welch, as I know him well. Will let you know the result as soon as possible. Welch is reported to have been seen some time ago in Santa Rosa, where he carried on a small shop.

SPRING MILLINERY.

The mere announcement that Mrs. G. H. Clarke has returned from San Francisco, will be a source of satisfaction to our lady readers, who will be further pleased to hear that this lady will set aside Wednesday (29th), for the opening day, at her popular millinery establishment, corner Fourth and Columbia. Mrs. Clarke's experience and acquaintance with the ladies of Portland, dates back in the sixties, and this is sufficient testimony to her standing in the line of business she presides over. We again mention the opening day—Wednesday, March 29.

LARGE BUSINESS.

The Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., at its Portland office alone, has received applications for insurance for the first twenty-three days of March, to the amount of one hundred and twenty-nine thousand dollars.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THAT SALE.

Dear reader (and your name is legion), while engaged in the multifarious avocations of life, don't forget that on next Monday, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the great auction sale of the Canemah townsite takes place on the ground, where purchasers can see what they are buying. The sale is positive, and if it brings a million dollars or one, it is all the same. It will be a fine opportunity for small investors to get a foot-hold. There are some very desirable residence sites on it, overlooking the great falls and the locks, some fine carp ponds, some good garden land, and some beautiful timber tracts. So come right along and bring your neighbor. Terms of sale, all sums below $40 cash in hand, above that amount time will be given with proper security and ruling interest.

THE SPECIAL JEWELRY SALE.

There never was a time in the trade of Portland when so good an opportunity was offered for the purchase of fine jewelry at not wholesale cost, as during the present sale of the stock of the late John Van Beurden. Every one who has looked through the store is free to acknowledge that the goods were selected with rare taste, and that the cases contain nothing but first class wares of latest patterns. Those who need jewelry, diamonds or watches, for present or future use, will save money by making purchases before the sale ends.

W. H. Mitchell, general agent for Mitchell, Lewis & Co. of Racine, Wis., manufacturers of the Original Mitchell Wagon, has en route for Portland, a large invoice of wagons and carriages to supply the Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho trade. The first lot, consisting of farm and freight wagons for the Eastern Washington trade, will arrive per steamer California, which left San Francisco, March 23. Place of business in Portland, is No. 188 Front street, in Esmond building.

THE DEPOT AND BRIDGE QUESTION.

PORTLAND, March 23.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

You ask for vacation of all the streets in [illegible] solution adjoining the proposed depot, ... a gift of five blocks of public property— ... permission to erect a bridge at the gateway of the city, destroying the value of the future suburb ... sets, and wharves above the bridge. As a property-owner I object to special privileges. The narrow gauge railway obtained the legislative permission to use half a block of the public property for its depot and right of way thereto, and we all fought it vigorously with the city [illegible]. What is good for the goose is also good for the gander. If the narrow gauge company was not entitled to any concessions from the city, no more is the O. R. & N. Co. entitled to the five blocks of land it now asks the city to vacate and donate to them.

PROPERTY-OWNER.

"Property-owner" misstates the case. THE OREGONIAN did not ask that permission be granted to build a bridge at the gateway of the city. Congress alone could grant such charter, and if the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company demonstrate to the satisfaction of the war department that the proposed bridge will not be a serious obstruction to navigation, the city of Portland will not have the power to prevent its construction.

THE OREGONIAN protested against the Narrow Gauge Railway Company taking without pay a piece of valuable property from the city. I did not oppose a right of way to the public levee. The streets now asked to be vacated are in a lake, and though laid out have never been improved. Nor have they ever been in use has the engineers. What single property-owner will be injured if they are closed? Certainly not those whose property adjoins the depot site. The feeling of hostility against this railroad enterprise by a few disappointed real estate speculators should not exist. Without the slightest bonus, Mr. Villard will make Portland the terminus of the largest system of railroads in the world. He asks for a place to land passengers within the city on ground that his companies bought and paid for. Chicago is the terminus of some eighteen railroads, a majority of which occupy the most valuable streets. Railroads make Chicago. They will make Portland. If Mr. Villard were to offer to make Chicago the eastern terminus of the system controlled by him, Chicago would make any sacrifice to secure it. Indianapolis owes her prosperity entirely to railroads. She has fourteen lines and would permit such a road as the Northern Pacific to occupy her principal street rather than have its terminus two or three miles away. The spirit exhibited by a coterie of growlers toward so great an enterprise as that headed by Mr. Villard is illiberal and mean, and disloyal to Portland.

WHERE DRAWBRIDGES ARE USED.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

If your correspondent "P" will take a trip eastward, he will have full opportunity of observing the practical workings of many drawbridges. Probably those at Buffalo, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Chicago and Washington, D. C., would be all-sufficient for his examination. Sailing ships and large propellers with a carrying capacity of from one to three thousand tons, pass in and out daily through drawbridges at the places above named.

It is hardly necessary to add that drawbridges are in practical use in all parts of Europe; to enumerate one-fourth of them would fill a column of THE OREGONIAN.

DAYTON NOTES.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

DAYTON, W. T., March 23.

Beautiful growing weather.

The new opera house is completed.

Farms and town property in demand.

Roads drying up and buggy riding in fashion.

M. S. Burrell of Portland is in Dayton looking after his business interests.

The woolen factory is for sale cheap. A rare chance for investment.

John Berry is president and J. W. Gray cashier of the First National Bank of Dayton.

R. R. Bark wants money on first mortgage in sums of $300 to $5000 at 15 per cent.

Many immigrants are arriving from the middle west. They have money and show industry.

Kinsley Morris & Co.'s new grist mill will have five runs of stone. The building is completed and the machinery is being put in place.

A meeting of the citizens will be held this week to ratify the action of the city council in regard to the purchase of a steam fire engine.

The Columbia National bank (second at Dayton) will open for business shortly with Levi Ankeny, president and D. C. Guernsey, cashier.

The two cases of smallpox on Patit, 11 miles from Dayton, are convalescent and strictly quarantined and under the supervision of Dr. Pietrzycki, our health officer, which is assurance of a quick extinguishment.

Frank Day, an account of whose arrest was telegraphed today, is a young man, married, and a son of Lew Day who was killed in the Nez Perces war. Frank had only $5 when he arrived in Dayton, but was "flush" in Walla Walla and had $250 75 on his person when arrested by sheriff Mustard.

KLICKITAT COUNTY NEWS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

GOLDENDALE, W. T., March 22.

A daily mail is what we all want, and hope to get one ordered by the 1st of July.

Plenty of sunshine; farmers are busy plowing and sowing, and expect to put in heavy crops.

Immigrants are arriving daily. We have plenty of room for them in our county, and welcome them all.

Mr. Crooks, who was killed near Prineville last week, was a son of Mr. J. T. Crooks, a highly respected citizen of this city.

City election will be held the first Monday in April, and much interest is manifested by the so-called saloon and anti-saloon parties, with strong points in favor of anti-saloon.

No saloon in Goldendale at the present. The license was $300 per annum. The present council raised it to $1000, which is more than parties can pay. The license having expired, the proprietor closed his saloon last Saturday.

Take a look at Woods the Hatter's windows, if you want to see nobby goods.

Police Force to be Increased.

WINNIPEG, March 24.—Official information has been received at the Indian department here that the dominion government has decided to increase the northwest mounted police to 300. It is said the present force is overtaxed, and officers have expressed themselves to the government on the necessity of a larger force.

In the effort to blacken the reputation of President Garfield, the stalwarts and the democratic press have been drawn very closely together. Guiteau's work is being ably seconded by the combination.—Chicago Tribune.

The next largest works are located at Terre Haute; fourth, at Cambridge City; fifth, at Indianapolis; sixth, at Lafayette; seventh, at Elkhart; eighth, at Laporte. It may be said that Pennsylvania builds more cars than does Indiana, but to support this statement it would be necessary to include car works which are owned largely and operated chiefly by the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad companies, but not independent enterprises like the car establishments of Indiana.—Indianapolis Journal.

THE JEANNETTE SEARCH.

[illegible]gineer Melville Reports his Plans for the Prosecution of the Search for the Missing Boats' Crews

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Hunt has received the following:

YAKUTSK, Jan. 10, 1882.

Honorable Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C.—Sir—I have the honor to submit the following plan of search for the missing people of both boats; also a schedule of provisions, lists of outfit and other articles necessary for six months if compelled to remain at Lena delta for the river to freeze over before being able to return to Yakutsk, supplies to be duplicated by Russian authorities at Yakutsk. It may be well to state that all supplies used at Belun or Lena delta are carried on pack horses or deer sledges for a distance of 200 versts and traveling from Belun to Yakutsk is only practicable at winter time. Before it may be passable we may be obliged to remain at Belun until November, 1882. Search will be carried on by three parties. I propose to establish a depot at Belun for all supplies, center of operations at the two crosses near Mt. [illegible], one party to go as far north as Sisteraske and back to two crosses, one party to work south half-way to Bulcour, and one party to work from Bulcour north to two crosses. These three parties should be able to search the whole of the country between Sisteranke and Bulcour, and in twenty days after leaving the depot. This being completed the depot will be moved to Carkoneer, between Sisteranke and Quina, one party to follow the southern and western branches of the Lena as far as the river Alanck; a second party to follow the northwestern branch of the Lena and work up towards the upper Belun; the third party to work from upper Belun on the northwest coast southwest to meet the third party. This will complete the search for Lieuts. DeLong and Chipps as far west as Inner Alonoka. This being completed, I will establish a depot at Perovinana No. 6, all parties to start from Perovinana and one party to follow the north branch of the Lena, the other to follow the coast line east and west until they meet, both returning across the country to Perovinana at No. 18, one party to entirely circumscribe the southern portion of the country from No. 18, first southeast, then north, turning southwest, then turning east back to Perovinana; two other parties to search east as far as Barkin and west as far as the branch leading southwest to Usherda; will then move the depot to Bucoff and search all the coast line from Bucoff southeast to the Bight of Day, two parties to go East from Bucoff to the coast line, and one party to work north and east to North Cape, and then back to Bucoff, the other party to go south and meet the first party, both returning to Bucoff. This can be accomplished before the snow floods set in. It will be necessary that the melting of the ice in the river stops before attempting to work along on the coast in boats toward Lena river.

From the position of the three boats before separation, only fifty miles northeast of Bark n, and the gale coming from the northeast, it seems impossible for the second cutter to be driven to the eastward of the Lena. By advice and consent of Gen. P. T. Chimerof, I have hired Buvokoff for one hundred roubles per month, and the Cossack, Sergeant Peter Kolenkin, at fifty roubles per month; also to supply them with food and clothing during our absence. Have telegraphed Mr. Siberikoff, owner of the steamer Lena, to detail Captain Goenbreck, of the Lena, to accompany me to the Lena delta, to assist in the search. Three traveling parties will be arranged as follows:

1. A. Engineer Melville and Captain Guenbreck with Yacht dog, sled and driver; second party, Wm. C. F. Nindermann, seaman, and Buvokoff, with a Yacut dog, sled and driver; third party to consist of J. H. Bartlett, first class fireman, and Cossack Sergeant Kolenkin with Yacut dog sled and driver. Reindeer flesh and fish can be procured during the summer at Lena delta. I will be at Belun February 25th and the search is to commence by March 1st as soon as the spring storms will permit. Enclosed please find ration table and chart of Lena delta with departures marked thereon, also copies of letters to Gen. Schenieroff by his request, about the conduct of people in his district; copy of a telegram to Mr. Siberikoff for services of Capt. Ghuenbreck, and copy of instructions to Bishoff of Belun to continue search until my return. Instructions were written at Nakaua and transmitted by an exile and sent back, he having verbal instructions to commence search at once, a reward being offered for the recovery of people, books or papers. General P. Tchenerof has guaranteed to have all supplies at Belun by February 15th. My party will leave soon as possible, and live on such food as the country affords. I have the honor to be, etc.,

GEO. W. MELVILLE, P. A. Engineer, U. S. N.

One of the enclosures is a ration table for six months, to be at Belun by the 15th of February, 1882. The list includes bread, dried meat, salt meat, flour, butter, salt, tea, sugar, tobacco, spice, pickles, vinegar, candles, peas, dried and barley grits; also enclosed is a copy of a telegram sent by Melville to Siberikoff, requesting that Capt. Quenbreck be detailed to assist in the search; also a copy of a letter to Gen. Tchenerof, commending to his attention the noble assistance rendered to the American party in their distress by Gregory M. Bioghoff, Russian commandant at Belun; also a copy of a letter to General Tchenerof, enclosing a copy of a letter to Ease Sprouick, of Jukeraush, giving information about the whole boat load at Bukoff, which was given by Melville to Kusamah for services rendered; also a copy of a letter to give Tchenerof, calling attention to the valuable services rendered survivors by Russians and Yakuts while at Cape Buntoff and its vicinity, and praising in particular two Russian exiles, Kousmah Quymayseff and Sappime Crpailoff, and a pilot named Sugue Bushelie Kootgart; also copy of a letter to Gen. Tchenerof, commending to his favorable notice the three Yakut hunters who rescued Ninderman and Noros, and also a copy of a letter to Gen. Tchenerof, enclosing a copy of a letter of instructions to Ease Spaonick for guidance of Bishoff at Belun. The places named on the chart of the river are Larctik, Sisteranke, Bulbock, Ozlok, Ulster, Upper Belun, Provornia, Quenina, Barkin, Holval, Ostobia, Balcour, Bacoss, Burubok, Kuqarr, Burka, Avaike and Cape Burkia.

Latest Reports from Sitka, Wrangel and Harrisburg per Steamer Eureka.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

VICTORIA, March 23.—The steamer Eureka, from Sitka, arrived at Departure Bay at 11 A. M. Passengers: Commander Henry Glass, Captain L. Francis, J. Gordon, W. Dickinson and John Smith. She will load coal at the Vancouver Coal Company wharves, and proceed to San Francisco, exchanging places with the City of Chester.

HARRISBURG, March 17.—The steamship Eureka arrived here this morning and landed a large quantity of freight and then steamed over to Douglas island and landed a quartz mill for Mr. Treadwell, who has a large gang of men at work getting things cleared away and making ready for putting up the mill.

We have had a considerable fall of snow this last month. There is at present about thirty feet of snow up in the mountains; at the mines it has been blowing a gale from the north for the last week, and the weather is quite cold at present.

Fuller has struck a ledge in his mine after running a tunnel in 100 feet. He has cut in on the ledge 11 feet, and had not found the foot wall. The ore looks well and shows gold all through. Everybody is feeling jubilant over the strike.

The only thing we are in need of now to make this one of the most prosperous mining camps on the Pacific coast is a civil government, law and justice, so that capital will have some protection. If congress thinks it can't afford it, we would suggest that the territory be given back to the Russians.

SITKA, March 14.—The mail steamer Eureka arrived yesterday. She encountered a very heavy gale from the northward on the 12th inst. In crossing Christian's sound the seas washed completely over the ship for four hours. She brings a very large freight and full list of passengers.

Commander Pearson, U. S. N., has arrived. He will relieve Commander Glass of the U. S. str Wachusetts, who goes to San Francisco to-morrow.

We had a very heavy gale yesterday evening from the north. The U. S. str Wachusetts, which was anchored in the west harbor repairing her boilers, dragged her anchors and was very close to the rocks when the str Eureka went to her aid and towed her off to safe anchorage.

The ship Solitaire arrived on the 9th inst., 124 days from Philadelphia, with 2200 tons of coal for the navy. Capt. Oatlis reports fine weather the entire voyage and all well on board.

The citizens of Alaska regret very much the departure of Commander Glass, for he has been a perfect success in handling the Indians.

Miss Gertie Eastwood died on the 13th inst., of consumption and was buried to-day.

WRANGEL, March 18.—Times are beginning to look somewhat livelier. We have had three steamers this month besides a man-of-war. The town is alive with miners, some of them getting ready to go up the Stickeen river on the ice, but the majority are going up to Harrisburg when the snow melts.

We had a grand affair here last week in the shape of a wedding in high life. The Eureka landed Mr J. McFarland, a nephew of our missionary, who has charge of the girls school. Mr. McFarland had been here but a few days when he married Miss Dunbar, who is a teacher in the mission school. The scholars had one grand potlach. Mr. McFarland will teach in the boys school here.

The steamship Eureka landed a party of 13 men on Kanasnow island, where the Northwest Trading Co. are establishing large oil works. The steamer also landed about one hundred tons at Klawack for the purpose of a salmon cannery.

The Mt. Hood and Barlow Road Co. has been organized in Oregon City. It proposes to open and construct a wagon road to the snow line on Mount Hood.

A GOOD HOUSEWIFE.

The good housewife, when she is giving her house its spring renovating, should bear in mind that the dear inmates of her house are more precious than many houses, and that their systems need cleansing by purifying the blood, regulating the stomach and bowels to prevent and cure the diseases arising from spring malaria and miasma, and she must know that there is nothing that will do it so perfectly and surely as Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines.—*Concord, N. NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 24.—There is no improvement to note in the Cape Horn trade, but on the contrary the market is gradually becoming more quiet each week. It is true that there is a considerable quantity of dead weight still offered at higher rates, but they are not more than equal to the price paid for ships, and agents show no desire to crowd them, as they wish to get as much other freight as possible in order to eke out a reasonable freight list. Up to this writing both lines have got ship for ship, thus showing very fair division in freight. The Tam O'Shanter sailed this morning. Her cargo comprised in part 90 bbls whisky, 40 bbls sugar, 4350 kegs nails, 160 tons coal, 50 bales oakum, and a round lot of pipe iron, steel rails, etc. Rates remain as last quoted and very firm. Tonnage is not over plenty by any means, and both lines are on the lookout for ships even at the high prices asked by owners. The Columbus was taken this afternoon to load at this port.

Isthmus freights are very dull. The steamer of the 22d had for California 2100 kegs nails, 10 bbls cotton seed oil, 200 tons pig iron, and for China 1394 bales domestic, 560 cases milk, 50 cases cotton flannel.

Overland freights keep up to full average and each season shows an increased movement by all lines in the pool arrangement, which is quite large, including, the past week, 300 cases milk, 20 cases sardines, 50 kegs herring, 100 boxes pepper sauce, 275 boxes lemons, 500 boxes soap, 1030 boxes candles, 431 bbls oysters, 34 cases canned goods, 72 cases shrimps, 55 bbls currants, 20 bbls glucose, 50 cases fish, 100 bags coffee and 25 boxes maccaroni.

Markets mostly are quiet.

Wheat—Less active after the large transactions yesterday for export, unusually low rates prevailing for freight. Room is worth 1@1½c per steamer are available as more grain is wanted for ballast. Against this advantage exporters are confronted with scant offerings and with sellers generally asking a premium of half a cent over price of April deliveries. Later cables indicate easier foreign markets at an advance of 1@2c.

Barley—Quiet and firm.

Provisions—Higher.

Coffee—Dull and weak.

Refined Sugars—In good demand and firm.

Hides—Unchanged.

Turpentine—Fairly active and firmer.

Petroleum—Quiet and firm.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH.

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist, until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

DR. LIEBIG 400 GEARY STREET, San Francisco, Cal.

CONTINUES TO TREAT SUCCESSFULLY, by Homeopathy, every form of special or chronic disease without mercury or nauseous drugs. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR is a positive and permanent cure for seminal weakness, nervous and physical debility, lost manhood, vital exhaustion and all the terrible results of abused nature, excesses and youthful follies. The Doctor will agree in writing to forfeit $1,000 for a case that he undertakes and fails to cure. The reason thousands cannot get cured of seminal weakness and the above diseases is owing to a complication called Prostatorrhea, which requires a special remedy. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR, No. 2 is a specific cure for Prostatorrhea. Price of either Invigorator, $2, per bottle, or 6 bottles $10. Sent to any address, securely covered from observation. Seminal Weakness and Prostatorrhea drain vitality from the body and cause numerous diseases that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss affects the vital organs, which causes destroying diseases, Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Jaundice, Insanity, etc. Excesses, non-use, Abuse, Inherited Weakness, Malnutrition, Spinal and Venereal Complaints bring on the above fatal disease. Debility and seminal Weakness obstruct the important and necessary acts of life and their enjoyments. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the [illegible] organs, kidneys, liver and bladder a specialty. The many complaints and Diseases of Women speedily cured; consultation at office or by letter, free and confidential.
